

The Good News

Vol. XXXIII Issue 11
December 1, 2008

My dear brothers and sisters,

In my reading this week I came across a quote from one of my favorite TV shows from years ago (one of those that was too good to stay on the air for long), Northern Exposure: “Einstein said, ‘God does not play dice with the universe.’ But I don’t know. I think God gets a pretty big kick out of messing in people’s backyards.”

What do you think of God wandering in YOUR backyard? I rather like the idea. After all, the BACKyard is more personal than the FRONT. I like the idea that the creator of all the universe cares enough about me to come to call.

I admit there are some things I would just as soon God not see: the unraked leaves, the weeds that still mingle among the plants, the little bits of trash that somehow never get picked up until someone embarrasses me into doing it. Still, I want God to visit.

We are into the season of Advent now, that wonderful time of the church year that serves as a reminder that God HAS come to visit our collective backyard. Jesus’ birth in Bethlehem so many years ago was God coming to call in a way unprecedented in human history. It is a reminder that God cares.

I am looking forward to enjoying Advent and Christmas with you this year, our first together. The music, the story, and the fellowship we share will be wonderful. In the words of Tiny Tim, “God bless us, everyone!”

DAVID

ANNUAL FAMILY CHRISTMAS PROJECT

This Advent Season, as for the past 29 years, families in our congregation have been asked to share the gift of love with needy families in our community.

On Sunday, November 23rd, members pulled items from the Charlie Brown Tree.

The gifts and food items will be distributed on Saturday, December 13. We will only have one week to sort and prepare the gifts and food baskets so it is very important that all gifts and food be brought to the church on December 7.

If you were not able to pull a gift tag on Sunday, but want to help, please call Robin Bowers.

As God so freely shared with us in the birth of His Son, our Savior, so we are invited to share that very love in this caring manner.

NEWS SPOT

Several of our members have been spotted on the news in November: Matthew Oswald was taped while working for the Red Cross. Russ Blackwelder was interviewed while serving dinner at Crisis Ministries, and you could spot Melanie Oswald, Wade Yates, and Carol Seavey working in the background.

NATURE'S BOUNTY

Forester Doug here,

"Christmas is coming, the goose is getting fat, Please to put a penny in the old man's hat!"

"Deck the halls with boughs of holly ..." and "The holly and the ivy ..." are old English Christmas carols.

Thus, the English settlers that came to this New World already knew about HOLLY. The species that grows there is English Holly (Ilex aquifolium). The family name of all hollies is Ilex. Well, the holly that grows here is AMERICAN HOLLY (Ilex opaca).

Our holly has thick, stiff, leathery, evergreen leaves with spines along the edges. The bark of larger trees is light gray and smooth. The flowers about 1/4-inch across with four white petals in short clusters at the base of new leaves and along twigs in the spring. Now it is important to remember that all the hollies are dioecious, that means the female flowers are on one tree, and the male flowers are on a different tree. This feature explains why some trees have red berries and some do not.

The wood of HOLLY is almost white and of even texture. It was used for inlays and marquetry on musical instruments and furniture. It is of interest that it can be dyed or stained to many shades and colors. Actually, this very white wood was stained black to substitute for ebony wood used for the black piano keys.

Holly trees are found in eastern USA from Massachusetts to Florida on the Coastal Plain and Piedmont, but only rarely in the mountains. George Washington was fond of holly and planted them at Mount Vernon.

On the church grounds, there is a holly on the walk to the Good Shepherd School, and another near the plaque for the wildlife sanctuary. But, if you are brave, look for them along the trails in our woods.

As Burl Ives used to sing: "have a holly, jolly Christmas".

'til next year, Forester Doug

PRESBYTERIAN WOMEN

We have been very busy working on our Charlie Brown quilts, prayer shawls and making plans for the year.

In October, we donated 10 quilts to the Ronald McDonald house for the children in the hospital. We donated gifts for the residents that live at The Presbyterian Village for Christmas in November. We also plan to decorate the Christmas tree in December.

We will have our December meeting on the 18th at the Presbyterian Village in the chapel at 11:15. We invite the residents to join us for the meeting and Bible study, and we join them for lunch in the cafeteria; it gives us the opportunity to visit with the families there. In order for the Village to prepare enough food we need to know how many ladies want to join us, lunch is $6.00

We are now able to print more of our cook books, "Dorchester Delights" and plan to have them available in time for Christmas. On December 13, we will dedicate the prayer shawls we have ready and they will be available in the fellowship hall after the worship service. We do not charge for the prayer shawls but can accept a donation in order to purchase additional yarn to continue this ministry. Anyone that needs a shawl before this date, please contact Sandy Nunn at 851-2548.
